

Pierre de Lacaze is a Computer Scientist with 25+ years of experience in both research and industry and is driven by a passion for Artificial Intelligence. He has been extremely active in the Lisp Community for several decades, first serving as President of the ALU and organizing and chairing two International Lisp Conferences and subsequently co-founding and running Lisp NYC for nearly two decades. His recent endeavors include working for Peter Norvig, for two consecutive years, mentoring PhD students for the Google Summer of Code AIMA project. He is currently living in Paris and employed as a Senior Data Scientist.